- ◆ be located in the same country as all other Machines in the pool,
- ◆ be in Customer's possession,
- ◆ be at a level of Machine Code designated by BULL as release level 780 or more current, and
- ◆ have the same warranty or post-warranty service status as the rest of the Machines in such Enterprise Pool such that all Machines in the Enterprise Pool are either (i) serviced by BULL either under warranty or post-warranty maintenance Service agreement, or (ii) not serviced by BULL under warranty or post-warranty maintenance Service agreement.

A qualifying Enterprise Pool may consist either (i) entirely of Authorized Machines that are BULL Escala M6-715, (ii) of any quantity of Authorized Machines that are BULL Escala M7-715 or BULL Escala H9-700 type, or (iii) of another blend of qualifying Authorized Machines as generally announced by BULL.

3. Machine Code License

3.1 General

Customer acknowledges that each Authorized Machine contains Machine Code. Customer recognizes that although it may acquire Authorized Machines from BULL's authorized reseller, (i) such BULL's authorized reseller does not own and does not have the right to sell, license, sublicense or otherwise transfer rights to the Machine Code provided with the Authorized Machine, and (ii) absent a license from BULL to use such Machine Code, Customer has no right to use the Machine Code. BULL is the only party who has the right to license such Programs and Machine Code.

By executing this License Supplement, BULL grants Customer a license to the Machine Code of each Authorized Machine within an Enterprise Pool under the terms of the applicable BULL License Agreement for Machine Code for only such Authorized Machine, as provided at <http://support.bull.com/ols/product/platforms/escala/warranty/license-use> ("Machine Code License"), which is hereby incorporated by reference into this License Supplement, and as modified herein.

3.2 Additional Machine Code License Terms

The terms of this License Supplement specify rights and obligations associated with use of Machine Code which are in addition to or modify the Machine Code License ("Additional Machine Code License Terms"), which apply solely to each Authorized Machine used by Customer within an Enterprise Pool. In the event of a conflict between the terms of this License Supplement and the Machine Code License, the terms of this License Supplement shall prevail with respect to such conflict.

4. Capacity Entitlement Pooling

Customer is authorized by BULL, at Customer's discretion, to assign Customer's entitlement for a Mobile Resource for use on any Authorized Machine within the same Enterprise Pool as the Authorized Machine for which such Mobile Resource is configured. Customer will execute such assignment for use using only the HMC of the Enterprise Pool. Only Mobile Resources can be assigned between Authorized Machines.

When Customer assigns a Mobile Resource from one Authorized Machine to another Authorized Machine, Customer must, within 24 hours of such assignment, (i) release such Mobile Resource from use by all associated workloads, and (ii) return such Mobile Resource to an inactive state, in the Authorized Machine from which such Mobile Resource was assigned.

5. Conversion of Resources to Mobile Resources

Customer may, at Customer's discretion, order directly from BULL or from BULL's authorized reseller, the conversion of existing processors, memory, or both to the corresponding Mobile Resource. Following each such order, BULL will make available to Customer certain key codes which Customer must apply to the associated Authorized Machine, and execute an Addendum with BULL if such Authorized Machine is not already assigned to an Enterprise Pool.

6. Capacity Entitlement Restoration and Transfer

Upon removal of an Authorized Machine from an Enterprise Pool, all Mobile Processors and Mobile Memory configured for such Authorized Machine will be removed from use by other Authorized Machines within the Enterprise Pool.

Upon transfer of a Machine that includes a Mobile Resource to another party (including return to a leasing company), such Mobile Resource(s) will transfer with the Machine, but will only be available for use following the other party's execution of an agreement with BULL equivalent to this License Supplement. The Additional Machine Code License Terms are not transferable, and can only be granted to a party by BULL.

7. Program Licensing and Software Maintenance

Customer is authorized by BULL to execute an Eligible Program on an Authorized Machine without regard for Mobile Processor entitlements assigned to such Authorized Machine from another Authorized Machine. However, for each Eligible Program that is licensed on one Authorized Machine in an Enterprise Pool, Customer must have a license of at least one core's authorization for the Eligible Program on every other Authorized Machine in the Enterprise Pool. Customer is otherwise responsible at all times to ensure sufficient license authorizations have been obtained for all Programs executing on an Authorized Machine.

Each Eligible Program that is entitled for BULL software maintenance on an Authorized Machine in an Enterprise Pool must also have a valid BULL software maintenance agreement on every Authorized Machine in the same Enterprise Pool.

8. BULL Maintenance Service Charges

For each Authorized Machine that is under contract with BULL for maintenance Service, the charges for such maintenance Service will be based on the purchased configuration of the Authorized Machine, including all Mobile Processors and Mobile Memory configured for such Authorized Machine.

9. Modification to an Enterprise Pool

Customer will notify BULL of each Machine Customer requests to add to or remove from an Enterprise Pool; Customer and BULL will then enter into an Addendum for each such addition to or removal from an Enterprise Pool.

10. Verification

Customer is responsible for remaining in compliance with the terms of this License Supplement and all of BULL's applicable Machine Code and BULL Program licensing terms (independently or collectively the "Offering Terms"). Upon reasonable notice BULL may verify Customer's compliance with the Offering Terms at all sites and for all environments in which Customer uses or has used an Authorized Machine. Such verification will be conducted in a manner that minimizes disruption to Customer's business and may be conducted on Customer's premises, during normal business hours. BULL may use an independent auditor to assist with such verification provided BULL has a written confidentiality agreement in place with such auditor. Customer agrees to provide to BULL and its auditors accurate written records, system tool outputs, and other system information sufficient to provide auditable verification that Customer's use of an Authorized Machine and BULL Programs licensed to an Authorized Machine is in compliance with the Offering Terms. The rights and obligations set forth in this paragraph remain in effect during the term of this License Supplement and for two (2) years thereafter. BULL will notify Customer in writing if any such verification indicates that Customer has used an Authorized Machine or BULL Program in excess of its use authorizations or is otherwise not in compliance with the Offering Terms. In addition to Customer's obligations to pay for any excess use, Customer agrees to promptly pay directly to BULL the charges that BULL specifies in an invoice for other charges and other liabilities determined as a result of such verification.

11. Term and Termination

- a. The term of this License Supplement commences upon its acceptance by both parties, and terminates as specified below.
- b. Customer may terminate all rights and obligations specified in this License Supplement for any reason by providing written notice to BULL. The effective date for such termination will be the later of (i) BULL's receipt of such notice, or (ii) any effective date later than item (i) specified by Customer in such notice.
- c. Either party may terminate this License Supplement if the other fails to comply with any of the terms, provided the party who is not complying is given written notice and reasonable time, not to exceed thirty (30) days, to comply.
- d. Any terms of this License Supplement which by their nature extend beyond termination remain in effect until fulfilled, and apply to both of our respective successors and assignees.

12. Incorporated Information; Relationship to Other Agreements

By signing this License Supplement, Customer represents and warrants that by acquiring an Authorized Machine, Customer has reviewed and agrees to all of the BULL terms and conditions that are applicable to the Authorized Machine and incorporated by reference into this License Supplement, and agrees that such terms and conditions are enforceable between the parties.

As specified in Section 3.1 above, the Machine Code License is incorporated by reference into this License Supplement. In addition, if a BULL Customer Agreement or an equivalent master agreement is in effect between Customer and BULL, such agreement is incorporated by reference into this License Supplement; otherwise, the terms under the following headings in Part 1 and Part 2 (as applicable) of the BULL Hardware Product Warranty y (provided at the following address: <http://support.bull.com/ols/product/platforms/escala/warranty>) are incorporated by reference into this License Supplement: "Limitation of Liability", "Governing Law" and "Jurisdiction". In the event of a conflict between the incorporated terms and the terms of this License Supplement, the terms of this License Supplement prevail.

13. General Terms

- a. Customer may not assign, or otherwise transfer, this License Supplement or Customer's rights under this License Supplement, or delegate Customer's obligations, without BULL's prior written consent. Any attempt to do so is void.
- b. In the event that any provision of this License Supplement is held to be invalid or unenforceable, the remaining provisions of this License Supplement will remain in full force and effect.

This License Supplement (including all terms and conditions incorporated herein by reference), and each Addendum, are the complete agreement regarding Customer's right to assign and use Mobile Processors and Mobile Memory on each Authorized Machine, and replace all prior communications, representations, undertakings, warranties, promises, covenants, and commitments between Customer and BULL regarding use of Mobile Processors and Mobile Memory. In entering into this License
